NEWSPAPERS AND WIRELESS

Though Detectives' Bureau Blundered Others Made Sensational Capture Possible

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—Dr. H. H. Crippen was arraigned before Judge Panet Angers shortly before noon today. The proceedings were brief. Crippen readily admitted his identity. He offered no objection to being sent back to England for trial. Judge Angers promptly remanded him to jail for 15 days.

Miss Leneve was too ill to appear in court, the physicians announcing that she had broken down completely and was in a condition of nervous collapse.

The formal arraignment did not take place in the regular police court room, but in a private house near the parliament where Judge Angers convened court to avoid the great crowd that had gathered to catch a glimpse of the prisoner.

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—In the gloomy underground dungeons of the Parliament buildings, Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve early today awaited their summons before Judge Angers at the end of the long ocean wide wireless chase that they had led from London to Quebec.

Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard and the Canadian police officials would not trust their important prisoners to the ordinary police cells but carried them to the parliament dungeons, usually reserved for political prisoners. Crippen was sullen and silent. He sat stolidly on the narrow bunk in his seven by four cell and refused to talk. The Leneve girl was almost a physical wreck. She wrung her hands and moaned piteously. She had not closed her eyes in sleep since Crippen was arrested on the deck of the Montrose yesterday morning and this morning she reeled from side to side in her little iron bed in her room, her sobs even impressing the hardest guards that stood in the corridors.

Precautions Timely

The precautions against allowing Crippen or his typist an opportunity for suicide were evidently well advised. In the envelope containing Crippen's belongings the police have a small paper wrapped powder and a tiny vial of dark brown liquid. No analysis of these has been made but Inspector Dew is convinced that both

GREAT FEATS OF MARCONI WIRELESS

Some of the Wonders Worked by the Invention of the Italian Wizard Recently

The wireless since the late '90's when Guglielmo Marconi perfected it, has worked marvels. Its greatest feat, probably, was the saving of 1,000 persons from the Republic. The following is a table of some of the most notable feats of wireless:

- Jan. 23, 1909—White Star liner Republic rammed off Nantucket by Italian liner Florida. One thousand saved by Baltic, following "C. Q. D." wireless call by Jack Binns.
- June 10, 1909—Cunard liner Slavonia wrecked off the Azores. Two steamers received "S. O. S." the international call that succeeded "C. Q. D." and went to her rescue.
- June 26, 1909—Goodrich liner City of Racine disabled off Waukegan, in Lake Michigan. Steamers Chicago and Christopher Columbus took off 200 passengers.
- August 17, 1909—Steamer Ohio foundered off Alaskan coast. One hundred and fifty passengers and most of the crew saved. Wireless operator died at his post.
- Feb. 4, 1910—Steamer Kentucky bound for San Francisco, sinking off Cape Hatteras. Wireless brought Mallory liner Alamo just as vessel went down and all were saved.
- April 18, 1910—Atlantic transport liner Minnehaha grounded near Bishop's Rock, wireless brought aid. All saved.
- July 23, 1910—Southern Pacific liner Mornus, on fire off Florida coast, Comus of the same line takes off passengers, assists in putting out fire and then returns passengers.
- July 31, 1910—The wireless' most dramatic feat—capture of Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve off Father Point, Quebec.

are poison carried by the fleeing dentist in order summarily to end the chase if he found himself hard pressed.

Just before the police secured Miss Leneve she rushed to a porthole on the Montrose and succeeded in throwing something overboard. This is believed to have been the revolver which Crippen is said to have carried when he boarded the ship.

When Crippen was arrested on the Montrose his companion was in her stateroom below, according to stories told by the passengers today. A search of the doctor revealed nothing of importance and Inspector Dew went below to get the girl.

Girl Falls in Swoon

She was seated in her room blissfully ignorant of the net fast tightening around her reading George Sheldon's "Audrey's Recompense," evidently absorbed in the novel. Dew rapped at the door and without waiting for a reply entered. Chief McCarthy followed. As the officers formally placed her under arrest, with a piercing scream, the little figure, awkward in its boy's clothing, staggered to the stateroom bunk in a swoon. When she had been revived with brandy, suddenly she darted to the porthole and before the men could stop her, had thrown out what is supposed to have been Crippen's revolver.

When searched it was discovered that the Leneve girl wore a heavy canvas harness, designed to conceal as much as possible her dainty woman's figure. While the stewards were searching her, the girl held her hands above her head, moaning piteously. When it was over, she collapsed again and the ship's doctor was called. By night she had recovered sufficiently to eat dinner but today she was again in a pitifully weakened condition.

Jewelry on Crippen

Dew, not satisfied with the first search of Crippen, himself examined the dentist and discovered a linen belt next to his skin and attached to his short to which were affixed several women's diamond rings, ear rings and a stick pin.

The Scotland Yard inspector believes that the Leneve girl had no hand in the killing of Belle Elmore. Passengers who traveled on the Montrose are of the same opinion. They say the man was nervous and plainly worried but the girl was gay and happy, except for fits of depression. The couple might never have been suspected had it not been for the feebly disguising boy's clothing of Miss Leneve.

Disguise Poor

She is small and well built and the male attire could not conceal the delicate outlines of her figure. All

THE ARREST OF DR. CRIPPEN AND CLARA LENEVE

PROGRESSIVES IN CONTROL IN IOWA

Cummins Men Expected to Denounce Tariff and Endorse Taft for "Good Intentions"

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 1.—With the republican state convention but two days away, political leaders of both the progressive and standpat factions are arriving and it is certain there will be a hot fight over the platform.

Senator A. G. Cummins, temporary chairman, will in his speech demand no backward step, but the resolutions committee chosen by districts will be about equally divided—six progressives and five standpatters. It looks now as though the progressives, led by Thomas A. Cheshire, of Des Moines, would make the majority report, denouncing the Payne-Aldrich tariff, and endorsing Taft for "good intentions," while the stand pat minority report will probably be written by Geo. D. Perkins of Sioux City and will endorse the tariff bill and the Taft administration and perhaps endorse Taft for a second term.

As the convention is progressive by fully 200 votes, the majority will be adopted, but not until there has been a bitter fight. State issues will also enter into the fight and the indictment of Gov. Carroll, nominee for a second term, embarrasses the leaders. Carroll is a standpatter and his indictment fills them with ill-concealed glee. He will not be endorsed by the majority report of the resolutions committee and the man who secured his indictment, John Cornie, deposed chairman of the board of control may be endorsed for his ten years work for the state institutions.

Few here think the convention will take any radical action against Carroll.

ALPHONSO FIRM IN CHURCH MASTERY

MADRID, Aug. 1.—Clerical newspapers today joined in a demand that King Alfonso dismiss Premier Canalejas and his cabinet, declaring that civil war is inevitable unless he does. The attitude of the clerical press is the most threatening yet assumed. It lays the blame for the trouble between the government and the vatican on the premier, and upbraids the king for falling under his minister's "baneful influence."

Despite the fact that there are thousands of Catholics ready forcibly to resist the government, proposed curtailment of the church's power, both Alfonso and his court know that a successful conclusion depends on firmness on their part. "There is no question that the vast majority of the people are with us," Canalejas said today. "Spain is progressive and the government must be supreme. With the government to the court and the militia all on one side it seems idle to talk of civil war."

The situation is not believed, however, to be as serious as pictured by the premier. In the Biscayan provinces the Carlist movement is spreading rapidly. Pretender Don Jaime's agents are openly at work there and should the situation between state and church become much more acute, it is feared that the Carlists will precipitate revolution. King Alfonso shows absolutely no weakening in his determination to support the anti-clerical cause. The queen mother is trying her best to dissuade him, but with no appreciable result.

UNIFORMED RANK PYTHIANS GATHER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 7.—Nearly all the general and staff officers and a vanguard of 4,000 officers and men of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, have arrived in Milwaukee and are encamped in Camp Henry Parish Brown. It is expected that by tonight all will have arrived to take part in the opening session of the supreme lodge tomorrow morning.

High officials of the order estimated last night that 40,000 to 50,000 would be in attendance at the convention.

MOVING PICTURE INSPIRES TRAGEDY

Happy Pair Go to Show, then Woman Duplicates Murder and Suicide Shown on Films

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 1.—A moving picture show depicting the murder of a young girl is believed by the police to be responsible for a double tragedy here today when Mrs. Margaret Eveland shot and killed her husband as the latter was sleeping and then ended her own life.

The tragedy was discovered by Mrs. Eveland's mother, Mrs. Black, who was sleeping in the house. She heard two shots fired in quick succession and rushing to her daughter's bedroom found her daughter lying dead on the floor and Eveland dead in bed with blood gushing from a wound in the breast. Mrs. Eveland had shot herself in the temple.

The police say there is no doubt that suggestion caused the tragedy as the couple had been particularly happy. Mrs. Eveland had been suffering from nervousness for several months. Last night, she, her husband and son visited a moving picture theater and witnessed an exhibition depicting the killing of a young girl as she lay asleep. The police believe that the pictures made such a deep impression on the young woman's over wrought mind that, in a fit of dementia, she unconsciously carried out in her home the scene depicted in the motion picture theater.

RETRIAL OF LEE O'NEILL BROWNE ON

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—In the re-trial of Lee O'Neill Browne, minority leader of the last general assembly, charging with bribing Charles W. White to vote for Lorimer for United States senator, before Judge Kersten, the first move of the defendant's counsel was a motion to quash the indictment. The motion is made on the ground that if a crime had been committed it was done in Sangamon county and out of the jurisdiction of the Cook county courts.

Attorney Forrest, counsel for Browne, will have the entire day to present his arguments.

Indictments Sustained.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 1.—Judge Creighton this morning sustained the indictment in the case of S. C. Pemberton of Coles county and Representative Jos. Clarke of Vandalla, charging them with conspiracy to bribe. He also overruled the demurrer in the case, brought on similar grounds and continued the case until the September term.

EDITOR OF DAILY SOCIALIST RESIGNS

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A. M. Simmons editor of the Chicago Daily Socialist since its first issue in 1906, today announced his resignation, following a contest for control of the policy of the paper. Simmons is of the "intellectual" type of socialist and the wage earning socialists urge that a more practical policy be adopted. They consider the Milwaukee brand of socialism, which captured the executive offices of that city as more practical.

Simmons says that he did not have to resign but did so as agreed that a change might do some good. He will become editor of the "Coming Nation," published at Girard, Kan.

LOCAL JEWS ORGANIZE

Zion society of La Crosse was organized at a meeting last Saturday night, and local officers were elected as follows:

D. Lense—President.
Max Reiman—Vice president.
Dora Wain—Secretary.
Dan Sobitzky—Treasurer.
A. B. Wain—Orator.

MAY CHANGE THE LOW WATER MARK

Drought May Result in Alteration of Figures on which Channel Is to Be Dug

If the river continues to fall and drops more than 3 feet it will be necessary for the government to change the low water mark at La Crosse which was established in 1864.

With the water continuing to fall and every prospect of August being a dry month this is deemed not at all improbable by local rivermen and the old mark established 36 years ago may have to be changed.

The Mississippi has not shrunkened to anything like its present stage except in 1891, when it reached a stage of 1 foot.

"I think," said J. F. McDonough of Captain Thompson's office, "that the government would gauge the low water mark by whatever number of inches it goes below the present mark. At many points along the river it has reached zero since the establishment of the mark, but in no instances can I recall its going below water mark."

In making calculations for the six foot channel the engineers gauged their plans by the low water marks and the question arises as to whether or not the establishment of new low water marks would not make changes necessary in the plans of the proposed channel.

WM. NEUMEISTER IS STILL INSANE

The application for a jury trial to determine whether or not William Neumeister is insane, was today withdrawn by Neumeister's attorneys.

This means that Neumeister is legally insane, but whether or not he will be committed to the asylum is not known.

He has been technically insane for the past year, although out of the institution on parole.

BURY CARLISLE AT COVINGTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The body of John Griffin Carlisle, secretary of the treasury during President Cleveland's second administration, who died last night will be taken late this afternoon to Washington. The funeral services will be held Wednesday in the dead statesman's Washington home. The remains will then be sent to Covington, Ky., Carlisle's former home, for interment.

CAR GRAFT CONTINUED

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Owing to the absence of one of the Illinois Central attorneys the investigation into the car repair graft case was continued today but no date was set for its resumption.

DENVER BUYS HARRIS

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 1.—Manager Hendricks of the Denver club announced today that he has purchased Pitcher Harris from Topeka for $1,000 cash. Harris will report here tomorrow.

FLYNN WANTS TO FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1.—Jim Flynn, "the Pueblo Fireman," today issued a blanket challenge to Billy Papke, Stanley Ketchel or Tommy Burns to meet him in a battle of any number of rounds from 15 to 45.

POSSE BURNS A NEGRO MURDERER IN SOUTH

SCORE DEAD IN BLOODY RIOTING

Troops Patrolling Streets of Texas Towns where Whites and Blacks Fought Sunday

18 VICTIMS ARE BURIED

Authorities Believe Many More Blacks were Killed and Are Being Hidden by Their Friends

PALESTINE, Texas, Aug. 1.—With the state rangers, one company of the capital city cavalry from Austin and armed citizens doing police duty at Slocum and Elkhart, the little villages are quiet today after two days of bloodiest rioting between whites and blacks in the history of Texas.

The bodies of eighteen negroes were buried in a long trench just outside of Slocum yesterday and a house to house investigation is being considered in hopes that the state officials may learn the exact number of blacks killed during the fighting.

The estimates run from 18 to 40 and although 18 bodies were found yesterday one of the deputy sheriffs insists there are five bodies unaccounted for, which would bring the known dead up to 23.

No Whites Killed

It has been definitely ascertained that no white men were killed. The four men missing from Slocum, it developed were at Elkhart when they were reported slain.

The full extent of the casualties among the negroes may never be known according to the militiamen doing police duty.

Today none of the negroes would give seemingly accurate information. It is believed certain that at least a score were fatally shot. This leads to the conclusion that the relatives of the friends of the blacks have hidden the injured for fear of arrest and have taken them to secluded spots where they died. The Anderson grand jury will convene today and efforts will be made to secure indictments against the riot ringleaders. Four white men have been arrested so far and scores of others will probably be taken in custody after the jury gets down to work.

"Mum" on Rioting

Absolute quiet prevails throughout the riot-ridden villages and the surrounding country today. Not even a wife or a daughter of the farmers could be induced to talk of the fighting for fear of implicating some member of the family.

The burial of the 18 victims yesterday seems to have brought to the minds of the whites a full realization of the slaughter they had committed.

A call was issued for farmers living between Slocum and Elkhart to meet at noon on the farm of Dick Wile, midway between the two towns. Scouting parties were then sent out to search the woods and the bodies of the dead were brought to a common center in the middle of a great corn field. Long trenches were dug and after a hasty inquest the bodies were buried.

A report that four more negroes were killed yesterday in a woods near Elkhart has not been confirmed.

ESTRADA MOVING TO SURE VICTORY

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1.—With the former American gunboat Hornet here in the interests of Provisional President Estrada of Nicaragua and cables telling of fresh victories of the insurgent army, representatives of the Madrid government are making great efforts here today to prevent the sailing of the Hornet for Central America.

That the boat is loaded with arms and ammunition for Estrada is believed certain.

CRACKSMEN GET $2,000 IN ONAMIA

ONAMIA, Minn., Aug. 1.—Between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning three expert cracksmen broke into the First State Bank here, blew the safe and robbed it of $2,000. Earlier in the night they attempted to break into the Soo Hotel but were frightened away by a flash light.

INVADERS NEAR CAPITAL

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 1.—Messengers arriving here today have thrown President Davilla and other government officials into the highest state of excitement with reports that former President Bonilla is nearing the capital with his invading army.

QUICK JUSTICE TO BLACK FIEND

Assaulted and Stabbed a White Woman, Slashed Her Brother and Shot Negro

FLED WITH OTHER'S WIFE

Alabama Mob Pursues and Lynches Murderer and All Is Quiet Again at Alexis

ALEXIS, Ala., Aug. 1.—After having criminally assaulted and probably fatally stabbed Mrs. Nettie Gibson, 31, white, wife of the superintendent of a farm, near here; slashed her eight year old brother with a razor, shot another negro and forced the latter's wife to take to the woods with him, Bill Walker, a negro, was shot to death and his body burned by a mob early today.

Negro Woman Hiding

The negro woman who fled with Walker is still hiding in the woods if she has not been killed by a stray bullet from the posse. She is in no way blamed for Walker's crime and will not be harmed if found.

Walker appeared at the Gibson home last night and induced Mrs. Gibson to leave the house, saying that a neighbor had just died.

Tries to Kill Three

He attacked her near her own home and slashed her little brother with a razor when he ran to her assistance. Mrs. Gibson was left dying and Walker went to the home of Jessie Brown, another negro, and raising a window, opened fire with a revolver. Brown fell fatally wounded and Walker compelled Mrs. Brown to flee to the woods with him.

After a long search which ended with Walker being lynched, the posse returned to their homes and there is little likelihood of race troubles.

ARREST TWO LITTLE GIRLS FOR MURDER

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 1.—Bulletin.—Jessie and Lulu Metz, sisters, were arrested here today charged with poisoning ex-Judge James A. Watson, whose body was found on the porch at his home with $2,000 which he was known to have had, missing. The police are searching for men accused of being accomplices.

CHAUFFEUR SAVES LIVES OF PARTY

MOUNT MORRIS, N. Y., Aug. 1.—F. Robinson, his wife and three daughters, of Cleveland are devoutly thankful today following their narrow escape from death when their automobile swung from the road by a bursted tire, was stopped a few inches from the edge of the 200 foot drop in the Genesee River gorge. Chauffeur Dempsey yelled to his passengers to jump and when the fright prevented them stuck to the wheel, stopping the car. Robinson presented the driver with $200.

S. S. S. THE BEST SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, sickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effects and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring tonic if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

JUDGE LINDSEY OPENS CAMPAIGN

Denver Judge will Speak for La Follette at Racine Wednesday Evening

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 1.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, who won national attention by his juvenile court work and advocacy of reforms in political life will be the first of the notable speakers from outside points to enter the campaign in Wisconsin for the reelection of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette. He will open the campaign in Racine Wednesday evening of this week with an address at Lakeside auditorium. He will speak at the North Milwaukee Bridge works plant at noon, and in the evening at 8 will talk at the South side Turner hall.

INGHAM WOULD BE THE SPEAKER

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—C. A. Ingham of Durand, Pepin county, gave notice today that he is a candidate for speaker of the assembly in the event of his re-election. His district comprises Buffalo and Pepin counties in the western part of the state, which he has represented in the lower house the last two terms. Mr. Ingham stands first and last as a supporter of Senator La Follette, and it is generally understood that he will be the candidate of the La Follette organization for the speakership.

Assemblyman Ingham was the leader of the La Follette forces in the last legislature, where he exercised a powerful influence in legislation urged by the progressive wing of the party he represents. Two years ago he was a candidate for the speakership, along with a half dozen other republicans. These were Geo. F. Scott, Prairie Farm; Michael L. Cleary, Blanchard Falls; L. W. Ledvina, Two Rivers; Wallace Ingalls, Racine, and Levi H. Bancroft, Richland Center. Bancroft, a stalwart, won the victory.

BRISTOW COMING SOON

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—It has been announced at the La Follette campaign headquarters that Senator J. L. Bristow of Kansas would spend the week beginning Aug. 8 in making political addresses in Wisconsin. The itinerary has not yet been arranged. Senator La Follette is not yet ready to announce when he will take the stump in Wisconsin, but is expected to start out in a few days.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

ANDERSON FILES FOR CONGRESS

ST. PAUL, Minn., August 1.—Opposition to James A. Tawney in the First congressional district is now full-fledged. Sidney Anderson, a young attorney of Lanesboro, filed at St. Paul for the republican nomination to congress. Mr. Tawney has not filed, but it is safe to assume that he will do so soon. H. L. Buck of Winona filed last Tuesday for the democratic nomination in this district.

RACE MEETING WAITS ON STRIKE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Officials of the Niagara Racing association are still awaiting definite word from the Grand Trunk railway regarding a settlement of the strike and a resumption of the special train service to the Fort Erie race track. The road has promised to give them a decision by 6 o'clock tonight, and on that answer will depend whether the present meet is run here beginning Wednesday or postponed until October, following the natural close of the circuit at Toronto.

CEREALS MAKE A FINE SHOWING

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—Farmers in southern Wisconsin are well pleased over the showing of small cereals, threshing of which is now in progress. Oats and barley are running finely, and there is a fair fair expense. Pastures are very poor. One prominent farmer in this county reports oats on his farm threshing from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre. On the university farm oats are running 50 bushels per acre, but the best fields are yet to be threshed. These are No. 1 oats, and the acreage is about 40. Much is expected of the better fields when they are threshed this week.

Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture, just returned from a trip in the Superior region, reports crops exceptionally favorable on the whole, despite previous discouraging stories of dire results from the drought. Down in this part of the state where the pastures have dried up, feed is very scarce and farmers are getting rid of any surplus stock and at fairly good prices.

WOODHOUSE FOR CLERK OF COURT

Insurance Man to Oppose Russell Smith for the Republican Nomination

S. D. Woodhouse, prominent La Crosse insurance man, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for clerk of courts against Russell Smith, the present occupant of the office.

The decision of Mr. Woodhouse to run has come after persistent urging from La Crosse lawyers and friends throughout the county.

Mr. Woodhouse was not seen today to verify the story, but personal friends say that he has verbally announced his intention to run and that nomination papers will be circulated at once.

UNIONS WRANGLE OVER CHICAGO ARCH

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Whether Knights Templar Arch being erected over one of the prominent streets is a piece of furniture or a building is agitating labor unions. The arch is being erected as a part of the decoration of the city of the Knight Templar triennial convocation to be held here August 8. Several upholsterers sauntering down the street in search of work decided that decorations of cheese cloth and bunting was the most appropriate thing, so they applied for the job and went to work.

Then a delegation of jobless painters sauntered down said street and observing the upholsterers at work decided that the arch was a building and not a piece of furniture, so the painters immediately looked up their business agent who immediately proceeded to paint the arch and the upholsterers were ousted.

PREDICTS GOMPERS WILL SOON RETIRE

DENVER, Colo., July 30.—Despite the belief of the members of the western federation of miners that President Samuel Gompers is steering a downhill course, the miners will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. Steps to this end will be taken at once, it was announced today, following the formal approval by the miners last night of the executive committee's report favoring affiliation. During the debate President Meyer said: "Samuel Gompers will not always be president of the American Federation of Labor. His course is down hill; he is not leading the working people out of bondage. He will soon be retired."

COUNTY COMPANIES IN GOOD CONDITION

In the annual report issued by Insurance Commissioner George E. Beedle figures are given concerning the La Crosse insurance companies, showing each of them to be in good condition. The temptation in the management of mutual companies to eliminate as many members as possible in order to divide up a large mutual surplus, which under the present law belongs only to the members who at the time have insurance policies in force, is emphasized by the commissioner, who urges legislation to remedy such a situation.

The report shows the following number of mutual companies doing business in Wisconsin: Mutual town insurance companies, 204; city and village mutual companies, 59; mutual church insurance companies, 4; mutual hall insurance companies, 15; retail lumber dealers' mutuals, 1; jeweler's mutuals, 1.

WHISKERS ARE $15 PER "PULL"

SALEM, Mass., Aug. 1.—Pulling whiskers in this city costs $15 a pull if Henry Jordan's experience may be considered a standard. That is what Jordan had to pay in the local district court for pleasure. Jordan pulled the beard of Jacob Schlan, a rabbi, and some may contend that the whiskers of a layman might be pulled at less expense. Then, too, Jordan in a degree extenuated his offense by explaining to the court it was done in the way of a joke. So the fee of $15 may not, after all, establish a standard price for such performances.

LA FOLLETTE FOE IS NOT SINCERE

Bancroft Attacks Primary, but it was He who Defeated Law Limiting Expense

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 1.—Levi H. Bancroft, stalwart candidate for attorney general, is stumping the state in opposition to Senator La Follette and the other progressive candidates who are making the fight for the people against the domination of the tariff-protected interests. Mr. Bancroft is operating under the direction of the republican state campaign committee, the name adopted by the Wisconsin Canonites, whose campaign funds are being supplied largely by the giant trusts whose headquarters are in Wall street, New York.

Among other things Mr. Bancroft attacks the primary system on the ground that it is so expensive that no poor man can expect to win a nomination and election against a wealthier opponent.

In this, as in many other things, Mr. Bancroft is not sincere. He, more than any other man in the state, is responsible for the defeat of a bill introduced in the last legislature, limiting the amount of money that could be expended for election purposes. This bill, No. 542 A, provided that no candidate, and no other person for him, should expend more than twenty per cent of the total salary earned by the office sought. It limited the amount that could be expended by candidates for United States senator to $7,000, and for members of the assembly, state senate, judicial and municipal offices to ten per cent of the salary of such office.

This bill, had it become a law, would have limited the expense of candidates for governor or other state officers to $2,000, and members of the assembly to $50. The penalties were such that no candidate would risk violating the law.

This bill was killed in the assembly by Mr. Bancroft and his friends. The vote against it was as follows: Atwood, Biehler, Bray, Brew, V. Cady, Chinnock, Cleary, Crowell, Culbertson, Domachowski, Farrell, Fisher, Georgi, Hambrecht, Hamill, Haras, Hoyt, Ingalls, Jones, Kempf, Kubasta, Kull, Ledvina, Lentz, LeRoy, Peterson, Ramsey, Reynolds, Rollmann, Frank Smith, Simon Smith, Stack, Thomas, Twesme, Urquhart, Wellensgard, Wells, Whitman, Whittet and Mr. Speaker Bancroft.

NO WARM WAVES DUE, SAYS MOORE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.—Cheerful news for heat sufferers was given out today by Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, who issued a special bulletin declaring that there will be no general warm wave over the country this week. The bulletin continues: "The temperature will be moderate over the eastern half of the country during the first part of the week, followed by somewhat higher temperature in the Mississippi valley Tuesday and the eastern states on Wednesday. In the northwestern states, the Rocky mountains and plateau regions, temperatures will be near or somewhat below the seasonal average. A disturbance will develop in the Rocky mountain region Monday or Tuesday and move eastward and reach the Atlantic states by Thursday. It will be preceded and attended by unsettled weather and showers and be followed by a change to lower temperature."

ACKERT TO SUCCEED RAWN ON THE I. C.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A report current here today is that C. H. Ackert, vice president of the Chicago and Alton railway, is slated to succeed Ira G. Rawn, late president of the Monon railway.

The rumor is supported by the fact that Mr. Ackert came to the Alton from a superintendency of the Southern railway, with headquarters at Knoxville, Tenn. The directors of the Southern and Louisville & Nashville railways held the controlling interest in the Monon.

E. C. Field, vice president and general solicitor of the Monon, who was appointed acting president following Mr. Rawn's death, will remain in the office until the election of a successor to the dead president will be held in September.

ARMY OFFICERS ORDERED TO SPARTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 1.—The army building is about depopulated through the orders of the war department of Dakota at the camp of instruction requiring the attendance of the staff and corps of the department, on the maneuver reservation at Sparta, Wis.

ADAMS, the Shoe Man, is Fussy

A man said to him the other day: "You're as particular about the fit of these shoes as though you were going to wear them instead of me." "Yes," he smiled, "I'm pretty fussy."

Do you know that the best shoes that you can buy don't necessarily cost more than the other kind? It's a matter of selection and buying. My way of making and holding customers is to give them the benefit of my years of experience in fitting shoes.

EXPRESS DITCHED BY TRAIN WRECKERS

WILKESBARE, Pa., Aug. 1.—The Quaker city express on the central railroad of New Jersey running over the Delaware and Hudson track, was wrecked by train wreckers at Pittston, ten miles from here at midnight. The engine in charge of Engineer Casey and Fireman Pearson of Scranton turned over on its side and both narrowly escaped death. Three of the four coaches of the train were derailed and the forward cars badly smashed. Of the 25 passengers aboard the train, all were badly shaken up but none seriously injured. The vigilance of the engineer prevented what might have been a disaster. He saw the trouble ahead and struck the misplaced rail after he had applied the brakes and reduced to the speed of ten miles an hour. Spikes had been drawn from the rail, allowing it to swing inward. This caused the flange of the wheels to strike the end of the rail and derailment followed.

BONYNGE WILL NOT TAKE BAIT

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 1.—The plans of some of the Guggenheim republicans who have been boasting for another term in the lower house of congress were set at naught today when Bonyng said that under no circumstances would he enter the race.

He is giving his sole attention to his candidacy to succeed Senator Guggenheim and he thinks that if he is going to run this fall, it would injure his chances two years from now.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES

The nomination papers of J. E. McConnell, first district assemblyman, are being circulated and republicans are expressing their satisfaction with Mr. McConnell's record by signing them with alacrity. We believe this is as it should be, for the work of the assemblyman has been gratifying to every class of citizens. The business element has found him on the side of common sense in relation to matters of legislation, and our workers have found in him a friend to those who would indeed be a misfortune.

Otto Bosshard, candidate for senator, is likewise proving popular with the republican voters, his petitions being everywhere met with approval. There is quite general feeling that Mr. Bosshard will make a worthy successor to "Tom" Morris, whose services to his district have been of great value and whose activities have been also of state-wide importance.

With Messrs. McConnell and Bosshard in the legislature, this section will be ably and honestly represented, and we are inclined to the belief that neither will be opposed by a candidate for nomination. In the case of Mr. McConnell recognition of the precedent by which two terms are accorded is a factor in addition to his fine public service, and doubtless realization of this fact has had a part in deterring other republicans from entering the field.

There has been strenuous effort on the part of a few gentlemen of the stalwart faction to get out legislative candidates in opposition to those now in the field. The majority of the men who have participated in this effort, we believe, are moved by an honest conviction in favor of class rule as opposed to mass rule, and our only criticism of them is founded upon their representations that their purpose is to endorse President Taft; they would have done better to frankly admit that their big aim is to defeat La Follette.

But there are other men than these who are actively engaged in the effort to find legislative candidates to oppose those now before the public. We refer to the men who "handled" the Stephenson slush fund here. That was "fine pickin'", and it has been anticipated that the present campaign would offer further dividends of this nature.

However, there is a stumbling block. The men who are putting up the "dough" to defeat La Follette know he cannot be defeated in the primary, and they will not spend a cent in a futile effort to accomplish his downfall there. Their plan is to elect a majority of the state legislature and have the primary repudiated; they want a fixed-in-advance or an itching-palm legislature, and it is for this and this alone that they will let go of money.

And so these patriotic folk who are willing to become the forgetful distributing agents of the Eleventh Story are "up against it" something awful. If they can't get legislative candidates, they can't get the money, and they can't get legislative candidates. They were just dying to get Capt. B. C. Smith to pull out their chestnuts. Did they do it for his sake? Not exactly. They loved their Burt, by O you bar'l. It seems the game of the mercenary gents is on in which honest stalwarts will not hold a hand, and it now looks like as how, right in the face of a consequent financial stringency, there ain't agoin' t' be no candidate.

NEW YORK AND THE WHITE SLAVE TRADE

The zeal with which Tammany has endeavored to prove that New York is the most moral big city in the world is explained when it becomes known that this was Mayor Gaynor's boast in his political campaign and that when George Kibbe Turner's graphic articles appeared in McClure's in which he showed that there is an organized and vicious traffic which centers in that city and spreads throughout the country it became necessary for the mayor to establish his boast, or take back his words.

When therefore the grand jury appointed for the purpose of giving a certificate of character to the city reported practically all that Mr. Turner had said it became politic to switch the public eye from the main facts to a single statement in a technical point in that report and to do this headlines were suggested to the press all over the country which were misleading.

The Illinois Vigilance association has addressed the leading papers on this matter and points out that the grand jury's report says:

"While we have found no evidence of any organization, incorporated or otherwise, engaged in the traffic in women, it appears, on the other hand from the testimony of witnesses that a trafficking in women does exist and is carried on by individuals acting for their own individual benefit, and that these persons are known to each other and are more or less informally associated."

"We have also found that associations and clubs, composed mainly or wholly of those profiting from vice, have existed, and that one such organization still exists. These associations and clubs are analogous to commercial bodies in other fields which, while not directly engaged in the commerce, are composed of individuals, all of whom as individuals are so engaged."

The association's letter contains the following:

"Attention is called to the statement here that one organization still exists in New York, consisting of persons profiting from vice. We have authentic information that this organization is an incorporated society, whose members have no other business or profession than such as are directly or indirectly connected with the traffic in women except that one of them stated before the Grand Jury that he was a gambler. "We are profoundly grieved that the traffic in women and girls has grown in our country to enormous proportions, involving the safety of thousands of girls, many of whom are pure, and that this increase of the evil has come, not because there is no national conscience on the subject, but because the best moral spirit of the country has been silent during past years, while our city governments have in many cases tolerated and permitted the traffic to flourish.

The letter also calls attention to the report of the immigration commission which contains particulars of a number of cases of conviction for trafficking in girls.

The most interesting and promising facts alluded to in this press letter are that the president, in his message to congress, recognized the evil as a national one, and asked for an appropriation of $50,000 to combat it and that this was followed by the passing of the "Mann bill" under the title of the White Slave Traffic Act, which makes it criminal under heavy penalties to transport or aid in transporting any women or girls for immoral purposes.

The letter of the Illinois vigilance association asks the press to make these facts known and we very gladly respond by giving them editorial prominence.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

My Little World
Through the mists of the twilight, on margins of sleep,
When the day drowns off and the dream-vision creeps,
The home of my childhood is all that I see—
And the world is just daddy and mother and me!

'Tis a little old house with no gables or peaks,
But the one place on earth that my memory seeks—
And my heart thrills again with the laughter and glee
Of a day that meant mother and and daddy and me!

The porch was all crumbled, the roof was wind-torn,
But the chimneys sifted in all the wonder of morn—
And the sun on the grass and the bird in the tree
Were the riches of daddy and mother and me!

The years of that glory are far, far away,
But they blossom again at the close of the day;
As the world turns to shadow I myself free
To run back to mother and daddy and me!

My dreaming heart never has wavered it good-bye—
And I want to go back there to rest when I die;
I guess God will be glad that the world can still be
The dear home of daddy and mother and me!

Pride in the Home

"There was a man here today."

says the helpful wife to the brutal husband, "and he just made me angry with his insinuating remarks about our furniture and things. He claimed that he knew you and that he asked you about how our home is furnished and he actually insisted that you said we didn't have over $200 worth of things in the whole house. Why, I just told him that we have one rug which is worth that much alone, and that our piano cost him all our cut glass and jewelry and pictures and things, and convinced him that we have five or six thousand dollars' worth. He said—"

"What's all this?"
"He said his name was Juggins, and that he had been talking to you and—"

"Great Scott! That was the tax investigator!"

When Henry Lost Prestige

Once, when exploring a factory district for story material, O. Henry invited a bright little girl to dine with him. She accepted on condition that she might bring a friend along. During dinner the writer sought to make his guests feel at ease by resting his English to the extent of using "ain't" and "hadn't oughter" and a few other popular mutilations of the mother tongue.

He saw the little girl a few days later.

"I was awful mortified that night," she said. "You spoke so ungrammatical before my lady friend!"

So Thoughtful of Him

She had just graduated from the high school, and Harold, who had fallen before her charms, not the least of which to him was her interest in mechanics, was laying constant siege. As soon as his new motor boat was launched he forthwith invited Phyllis for a trial spin down the Potomac. As she sat beside him, jauntily clad in a brand new yachting suit, she turned upon the swain a rapid fire battery of questions, asking everything imaginable about the boat and filling him with fond joy. At length her eye lit upon a circular life buoy fastened to the rail that ran around the stern.

"What's that for Harold?" she asked after gazing a while in deep study.

"That's in case of accident," replied Harold.

For a long time the maiden pondered in deep thought. Then her face lit up with a satisfied intelligence.

"Oh, I see now!" she exclaimed, beaming on Harold. "You were afraid you might have an accident while I was with you and brought along that extra tire like papa carries on the automobile. It was awfully thoughtful of you!"

Missed the Children

A traveling man was stranded over Sunday in a small town in the west where there was a street fair in progress. He walked about and could find nothing to do until he came upon a place where various prizes were offered for knocking over rag dolls by throwing baseballs at them—three shots for a nickel.

He threw three balls and hit nothing. He tried three more and hit nothing. He invested several more nickels and still had no luck.

Finally he went back to his hotel in disgust and wrote to his wife:

"Dear Wife: You cannot imagine how lonesome I am here. Indeed, I have been missing the children all the afternoon."

The GIRL FROM HIS TOWN

MARIE VAN VORST

"Well, it's lucky for me I have my head on tight; a few more of those goo-goo eyes of hers and it would be as well for me to light out for the woods."

Dan liked best at Osdene Park his chin-chins with Gordon Galorey. The young man was unflatteringly frank in his choice of companions. When the duchess looked about for him to ride with her, walk with her to find the secluded corners, to talk, to play with him, she was likely to discover Dan gone off with Lord Galorey, and to come upon them later, sitting enveloped in smoke, a stand of drinks by their side.

To Galorey, who had no heir or child, the boy's presence proved to be the happiest thing that had come to him for a long time. He talked a great deal to Dan about the old man. Galorey was poor and the fact of a fortune of ten million pounds possessed by this one boy was continually before his mind like an obsession. It was like looking down into a gold mine. Galorey tried often to broach the subject of money, but Dan kept off. At length Galorey asked boldly:

"What are you going to do with it?" On this occasion they were walking over from the lower park back to the house, a couple of terriers at their heels.

"Do with what?" Blair asked innocently. He was looking at the trees. He was comparing their grayish green trunks and their foliage with the California redwoods. A little taken aback, Lord Galorey laughed.

"Why, with that colossal fortune of yours."

And Blair answered unhesitatingly: "Oh—spend it on some girl sooner or later."

Galorey fairly staggered. Then he took it humorously.

"My dear chap, I never saw a sweeter, bigger man than your father. If he had been my father, I dare say I might have pulled off a different yard of hemp, but I must confess that I think he has left you too much money."

"Well, there are a lot of fellows who are ready to look after it for me," Blair answered coolly. Before his companion could retort, he continued: "You see, dad took care of me for twenty-one years all right, and whenever I am up a stump, why all I have to do is to remember the things he did."

For the first time since his arrival at Osdene Dan's tone was serious. Interested as he was in the older man, Dan's inclination was to evade the discussion of serious subjects. With Blair's slang, his conversation was almost incomprehensible.

"Dad didn't gas much," the boy said, "but I could draw a map of some of the things he did say. He used to say he made his money out of the earth."

The two men were walking side by side across the rich velvet of the immemorial English turf. The extreme softness of the autumn day, its shifting lights, its mellow envelope, the beauty of the park—the age, the stability, the harmony, served to touch the young fellow's spirits. At any rate there was a ring in him, an equilibrium that surprised Galorey. "Most things," dad said to me, "go back to the earth." He struck the English turf with his stick. "Dad said a fellow had better buy those things that stay above the ground." Dan smiled frankly at his companion. "Curious thing to say, wasn't it?" he reflected. "I remembered it, and I got to wondering after I saw him buried, 'what are the things that stay above the ground?' The old man never gave me another talk like that."

After a few seconds Galorey put in:

"But, my dear chap, you did give me a shock up there just now when you said you were going to spend 'all your money on some girl.'"

The millionaire took a chestnut from his pocket. He held it high above his head and the little dog that had been yelping at his heels fixed his eyes on it. Blair poised it, then threw it as far as he could. It sped through the air and the terrier ran like mad across the park.

"I like girls awfully, Gordon, and when I find the right one, why, then I'm going to feel what a bully thing it is to be rich."

Lord Galorey groaned aloud.

"My dear chap!" he exclaimed.

The spell of the day, the fragrant beauty of the time and place and hour were clearly upon Dan Blair.

Lord Galorey was sympathetic to him. The terrier came tearing back with the chestnut held between his thick jaws. Dan bent down to take the nut from the dog and wrestled with him gently.

"Swell little grip he's got. Nice old pup! Let it go now!" And he threw the nut far again, and as the terrier ran once more Blair thrust his hands down in his pockets and began softly to whistle the tune of Manlady.

He said slowly, going back to his subject: "It must be great to feel that a fellow can give her jewels like the Duchess of Breakwater's, ropes of 'em"—he nodded toward the house—"and a fine old place like this now, and motors and yachts and all kinds of stuff."

His eyes rested on the suave lines of the Elizabethan house, with its softened gables and its banked terraces. Possibly his vivid imagination pictured "some nice girl" there waiting, as they should come up, to meet him.

"I have always thought it would be bully to find a poor girl—pretty as a peach, of course—one who had never had much, and just cover her with things. Hey, there!" he cried to the terrier, who had come running back, "bring it to me."

They had come up to the terrace by this, and Dan's confidence, fresh as a gush of water from a rock, had ceased. His face was placid. He didn't realize what he had said.

From out of one of the long windows, dressed in a sable coat, her small head tied up in a motor scarf, the Duchess of Breakwater appeared. She greeted them severely, and Lord Galorey heard her say under her breath to Dan:

"You promised to be back to drive with me before dinner, Dan. Did you forget?"

And as Galorey left the boy to make his peace, the first smile of amusement broke over his face. He felt that the duchess had between her and her capture of Dan Blair's heart the elusive picture of "some nice girl"—not much perhaps, but it might be very hard to tear away the picture of the ideal that was ever before the blue eyes of this man who had a fortune to spend on her!

The Duchess Approves

His attentions to the Duchess of Breakwater had not been so conspicuous or so absorbing as to prevent the eager mothers who, true to her word, Lady Galorey had invited down—from laying siege to Dan Blair. Lady Galorey asked him:

"Don't you want to marry any one of these beauties, Dan?" And Blair, with his beautiful smile and, true to her word, Lady Galorey called his inspired candor, answered:

"Not on your life, Lady Galorey!" And she agreed, "I think myself you are too young."

"No," Dan refuted, "you are wrong there. I shall marry as fast as I can."

His hostess was surprised.

"Why, I thought you wanted your fling first."

And Dan, from his chair, in which, with a book, he had been sitting when Lady Galorey found him, answered cheerfully:

"Oh, I don't like being alone. I want to go about with some one. I should like a fling all right, but I want to fling with somebody as I go."

The lady of the house was not a philosopher nor an analyst. She had certain affairs of her own and was engrossed in them and lived in them. As far as Lady Galorey was concerned the rest of the world might go and hang itself as long as it didn't do it at her gate-post. But Blair couldn't leave any one indifferent to him very long, not unless one could be in different to a blaze of sunlight; one must either draw the blinds down or bask in its brightness.

She laughed. "You're perfectly delicious! You mean to say you want to be married at once and let your wife fling around with you?"

"Just that."

"How sweet of you, Dan! And you won't marry one of these girls here?"

"Don't fill the bill, Lady Galorey."

"Oh, you have a sweetheart at home, then?"

"All off!" he assured her blithely, and rose, tall and straight and slender.

The Duchess of Breakwater had come in, indeed she never failed to when there was any question of finding Blair.

Dan stood straight before the two women of an old race, and the American didn't suggest any line of noble ancestors whatsoever. His features were rather agglomerate; his muscles were possibly not the perfect elastic specimens that were those muscles whose strain and sinew had been made from the same stock for generations. He was, nevertheless, very good to look on. Any woman would have thought so, and he bent his blond head as he looked at the Duchess of Breakwater with something like benevolence, something of his father's kindness in his clear blue eyes. Neither of the noble ladies vaguely understood him. His hostess thought him "a good sort," not half bad, a splendid catch, and the other woman, only a few years his senior, was in love with him. The duchess had married at eighteen; tired of her bargain at twenty, and found herself a widow at twenty-five. She held a telegram in her hand.

"We've got the box for Mandalay tonight at the Galety, and let's motor in."

Only Lady Galorey hesitated, disappointed.

"Too bad—I had specially arranged for Lady Grandcourt to drive over with Eileen. I thought it would be a ripping chance for her to see Dan."

When at length the duchess had succeeded in getting Dan to herself toward the end of the day in the red room, after tea, she said:

"So you won't marry a London beauty?"

And rather coldly Dan had answered:

"Why, you talk, all of you, as if I had only to ask any girl of them, and she would jump down my throat."

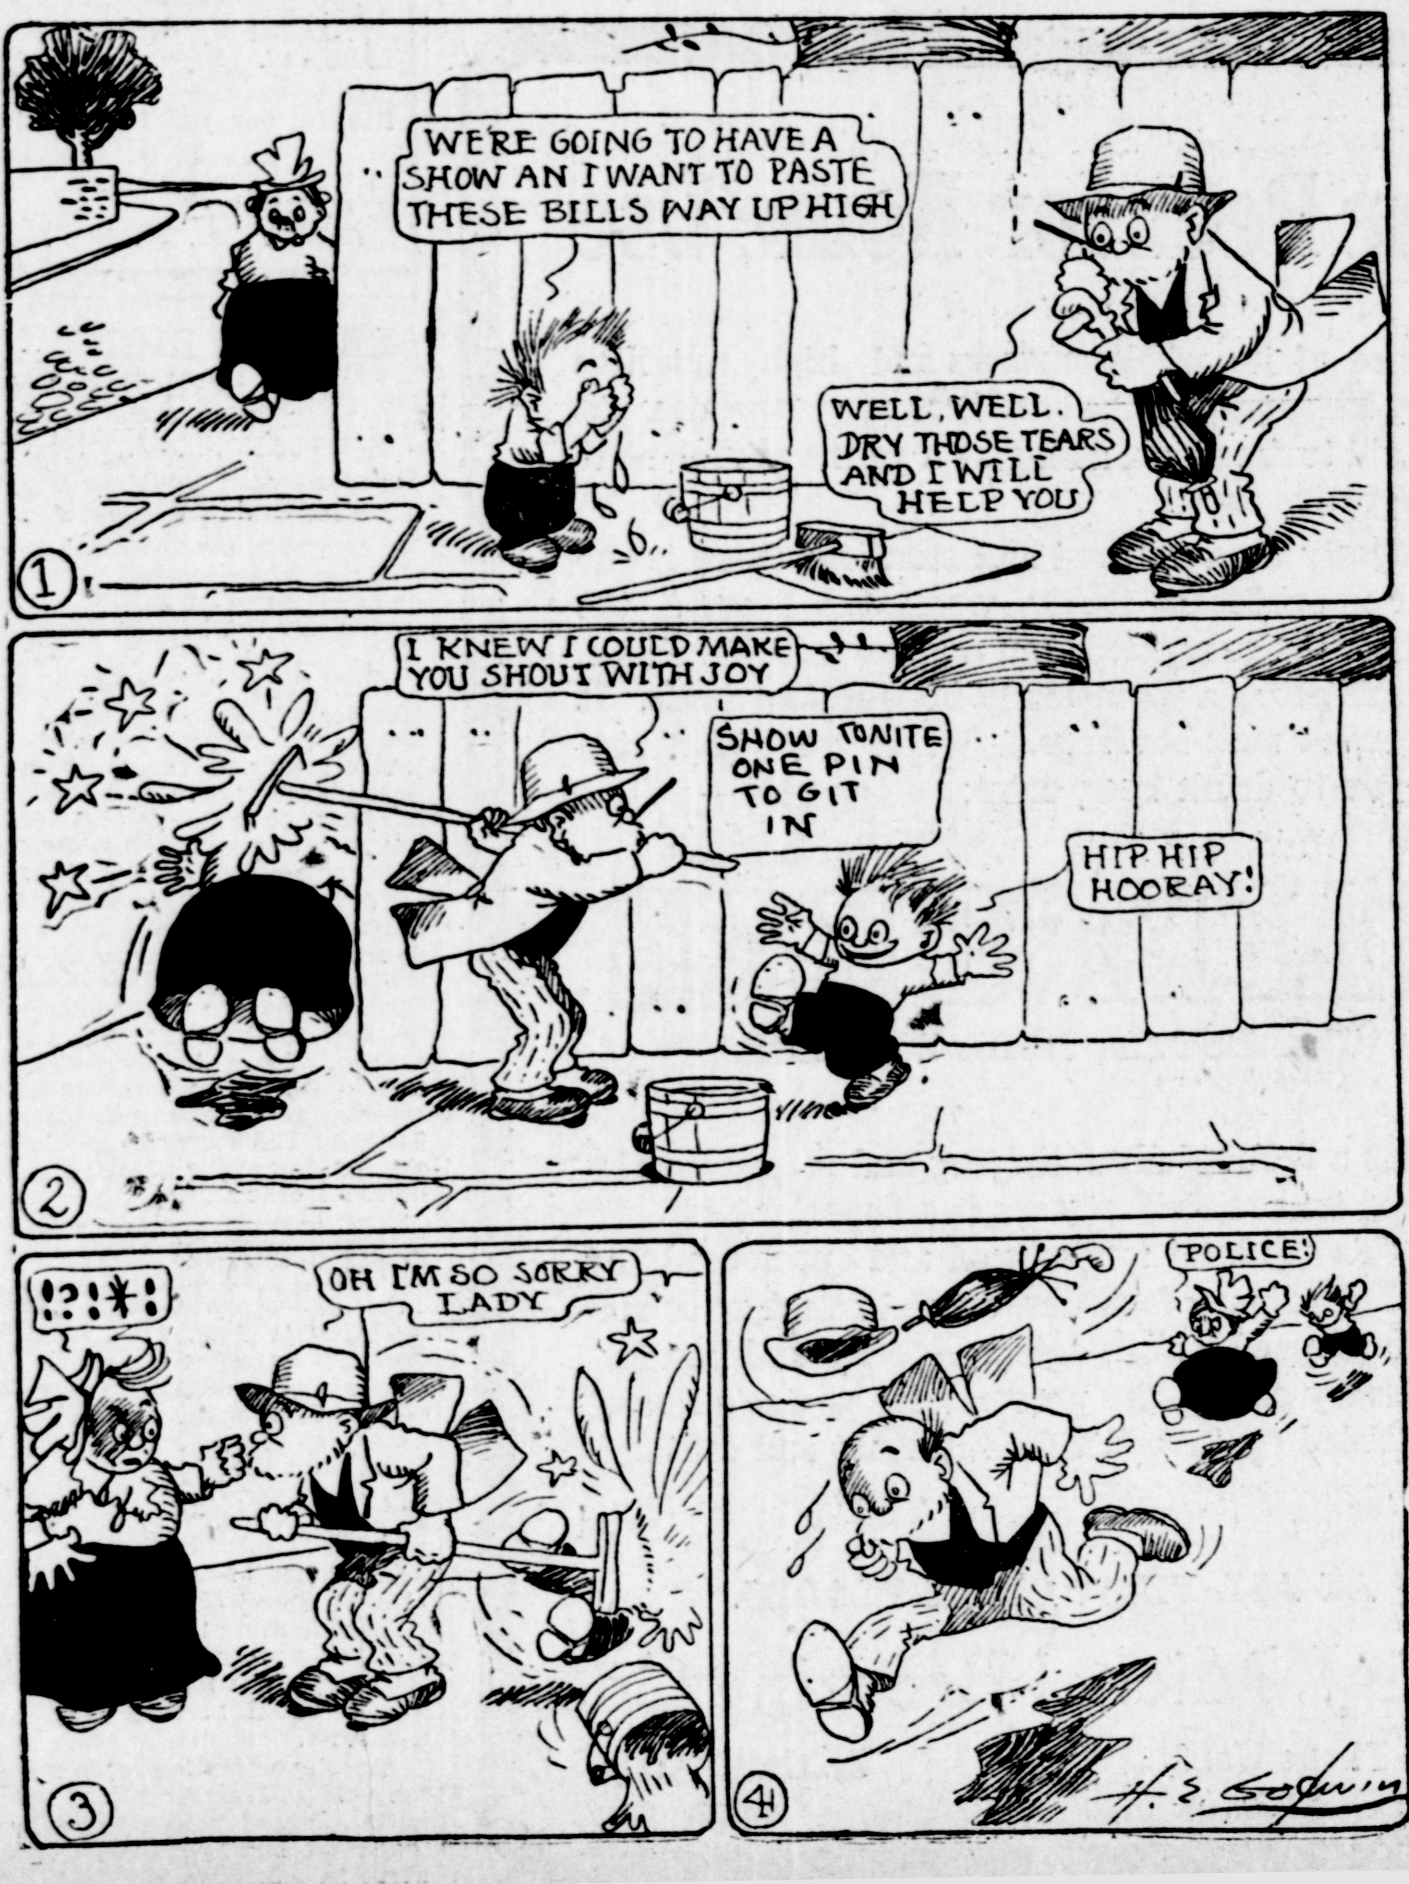

"Don't try it," the duchess answered, "unless you want to have your mouth full."

Dan did not reply for a second, but he looked at her more seriously, conscious of her grace and her good looks. She was certainly better to look at than the simple girls with their big hands, small wits, long faces, and, as the boy expressed it, "utter lack of get-up." The duchess shone out to advantage.

WOMEN NAMED BY TEXAS DEMOCRATS

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 1.—The interesting developments of the Texas democratic primaries are coming to light today as complete returns are reaching the capital. Although women's suffrage has not invaded Texas, it develops that the democrats will have two office holders from the fair sex, Miss Annie Wiseman having been nominated for district clerk in Wilson county and Bee county having named Miss Lida Dougherty as the nominee for county superintendent of school. An Official report from Brewster county says that at Bouquillas not a single vote was cast on the day of the primaries. The prohibition and anti-prohibition voters lined up in solid battle array outside of the election booths and defied each other to cast a vote. No one cared to start the trouble and the polls closed without a ticket being marked.

A most unhappy man is he who is dependent upon his children for support. A savings account is insurance against dependence upon those whom we love most. The boy's future is pretty well established who has formed a systematic habit of saving. Any boy may start this habit with a dollar or more.

Ten Months Old Infant Succumbs After Short Illness; will Be Buried Tomorrow

Kenneth, the ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Knuteson, 1018 Gillette street, died yesterday morning after a short illness with stomach trouble. The child had been suffering with measles for a time and then with a sort of a summer complaint, the latter proving fatal.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence, Undertaker Sletten in charge. Interment will be in the Oak Grove cemetery.

WORK TRAIN OFF THE TRACK NEAR SPARTA

A work train east of Sparta, which left the track for some unknown reason yesterday morning, delayed the fast mail train on the Milwaukee road about an hour. The train tipped over on its side but fortunately no one was injured. The wrecking outfit was called to the assistance of the train and had the track clear inside of an hour. An accident at Raymore, east of Sparta, Saturday morning, delayed the train for over an hour.

HAIR WHITE AS SNOW

Restored to Natural Color with One Bottle of

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER

The Only True Hair Restorer, Tonic and Rejuvenator

ALMOST A MIRACLE

My hair was as white as snow when I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer. One bottle restored my hair to its natural dark brown color. As I am now 70 years old, I consider the result most remarkable. It is an agreeable and refreshing hair dressing, keeping the hair soft and glossy, without being in the least greasy or sticky.

WM. WESTLAKE,

THAT'S IT!

NO MORE GRAY HAIR
NO MORE BALDHEADS
NO MORE DANDRUFF

Why hesitate when WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER is daily producing just such results?

After years of study and analysis of the hair, we have been able to produce an ideal Hair Tonic and Restorer, which contains an actual constituent of hair, combined with ingredients of recognized merit for treatment of hair and scalp diseases. It makes and keeps the scalp clean and healthy, gives life, strength and lustre to the hair, and restores faded and gray hair to natural color.

No matter how long and thick your hair is, WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER will make it longer and thicker. It will remove every trace of dandruff in a few days, stop falling in one week, and start a new growth in from one to three months.

These are facts that have been proven in scores of cases. WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER is guaranteed to do all that it is claimed to do or the price will be refunded.

SEEKS TO RIGHT SON'S MEMORY

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1.—"I am told that it would be legally possible for me to become a candidate for congress, even if I am a woman. If I should be elected I would stand on a platform of fair play and protection for the boys of the army and navy."

Mrs. Rose B. Sutton, mother of Midshipman Sutton, whose tragic death at Annapolis aroused the nation a year ago, thus announced her final plan to prove to the world that her son did not kill himself as the naval investigation board reported but was slain by fellow midshipmen.

"Apparently in no other way can I have justice done to my boy's memory. I am convinced that all the naval boards have erred either through bias or misunderstanding. In their findings that my son was a suicide. Since I failed to get justice in the naval courts friends are asking me to run for congress to fight for the conviction of my son's slayers from the standpoint of a national official."

AMES RETURNS TO HIS COMMAND

MANILA, Aug. 1.—Freed by the court martial which tried him on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, Lieutenant Colonel Robert F. Ames was today returned to his command, the Twelfth Infantry. Ames was court-martialed in connection with the suicide of Lieutenant Clarence M. Janney, who shot himself in Ames' home after a quarrel with his wife at Ames' dinner table.

Announcement of the court's verdict has not been made public, but the impression is general that Ames was demoted several files in relative rank.

Ames' resumption of duty practically closes the case.

Mrs. Janney, who was a witness at the court martial, has left for her home in San Francisco.

This Is One of the Features of the Big Ringling Circus which Is Coming Here August 22

"WORLD'S GREATEST SHOWS"

Some Facts and Figures on the Great Shows which Are Booked to Show Here This Month

A real circus is coming. The heart of every boy from the age of five to sixty-five will be filled with joy at the announcement, and the girls and their dignified mammas will be more pleased than they will perhaps admit. All the world loves a good circus and when it is Ringling Brothers' "World's Greatest Shows", as the official title reads, the fact speaks for itself. The exhibition date underlined for La Crosse is Monday, Aug. 22.

This circus is an institution that is typical of the American spirit of enterprise. Not so many years ago as "wonders" were exhibited under a home-made tent. A moth-eaten horse, acquired in exchange for an old silver watch and several jackknives, was the sole quadruped, while several performers constituted the "great array" of talent.

Today the Ringlings employ 1,250 men, women and children from every clime; their great menagerie contains 108 cages and dens of rare wild jungle creatures, 40 elephants and 200 creatures in leash. The hundreds of hand-carved, gem-studded vehicles are drawn by 650 thoroughbred horses, while the main tent is the largest ever constructed, seating 15,000 persons comfortably.

Always progressive and extravagant the quintet of brothers have this year gone to greater lengths than ever before, adding feats and features new to America, and enlarging the show in every department until now 85 double-length railroad cars are required to transport the aggregation from place to place.

There are 125 numbers in the big program which concern 275 performers from every civilized country on earth. From Germany have come the Saxon brothers, three giants of muscle who claim to be stronger than Samson. The eldest member of this trio lies upon his back and elevates with his feet legs a heavy plank on which are seated eleven men. Then two of the brothers form the pillars of a huge bridge-like structure while an automobile is driven over carrying six persons.

Another important European feature are the Schuman horses, from Germany. They were trained by Albert Schuman, the greatest master of horses in the history of the world. The horses enter the arena concealed in large brewery barrels piled on an immense wagon. They are not discovered until they kick out the barrel heads and jump into the ring. They sit at tables and drink from large glasses, smoke pipes, wait on their hind legs skip the rope and roll one another about in huge pasks.

Then there are Keel's elephants that pay base ball, pitching and batting the sphere like professionals. These big beasts also use the telephone, talking with one another from the front to rear end of the big tent.

Ernest Clark, an English aerialist, who turns a complete triple somersault in mid-air. Robbedillo, the Spanish king of high wires; the Lorch family of European acrobats; the Alex family of Russian acrobats; the Cottrell-Powell company of Italian riders; the Taximeter horses, a Parisian novelty; the Marnello-Marnitz family, and the best and funniest band of European jesters ever gathered together are other strong attractions.

A street parade will be given, leaving the show grounds at 10 ton and wife, formerly of Boscebel, Wis., now of Washington, D. C., are in La Crosse today, the guests of Judge and Mrs. John Brindley. They leave for Washington tomorrow night.

Oscar Anderson, "Spike" Storandt and two traveling men from Chicago left this morning for Crosby slough where they will spend a week camping and fishing.

SECOND BISCUIT TRUST REALITY

$30,000,000 Corporation to Oppose "Cracker Trust";
Montague Is Not Interested

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Federal Biscuit company, a $30,000,000 merger of from 75 to 100 of the largest independent bakers, became a reality today, in opposition to the National Biscuit company, the so-called cracker trust.

In the new trust are 24 companies is New York, many in New England, the middle and middle western states, Oregon, Utah and the Dakotas.

The company has issued $18,000,000 in preferred and $12,000,000 common stock but only $3,000,000 of the preferred and $1,000,000 of the common stock will be offered to the public at the present time.

Many of the plants now in operation will be closed and combined with others, which will be accordingly enlarged.

The organizer of the new trust is Hartwell B. Frubb, formerly of St. Louis. The company is incorporated in Wilmington, Del.

Mr. W. R. Montague of the La Crosse Cracker and Candy company said today he had heard nothing of the new organization and had never been approached on the subject, and consequently the local concern is not included in the merger.

"I haven't heard a word on the subject," said Mr. Montague, "and it is news to me."

COON VALLEY MAN LAUGHS AT DEATH

Engine and Car Pass Over Ole Hanson's Body
and He Still Is Alive

Run over by an engine and one car of a train and then living to tell the story is the streak of luck which runs with Ole Hanson, a farm hand, employed near Coon Valley, Wis.

Hanson was struck by the Southeastern train as it was running from Chaseburg to Coon Valley yesterday morning, the engine and first coach
passed over his form before the train was stopped. When the train crew ran back expecting to pick up his mangled form they found him about three years from the track just coming out of a stupor and sensible enough to demand what had hit him.

The engineer saw the man walking down the track and whistled for him. He failed to get out of the way and the train hit him. The emergency brakes were applied but the engine
and one coach passed over him.

When he was picked up he was under the train and beyond a scalp wound was uninjured. Trainmen are at a loss for an explanation of the phenomena but it is presumed that he was hit by a break beam and thrown from under the moving train.

"Not bane da matter vit you train
fallers?" was his only comment
when he was carried into one of the coaches and taken to Coon Valley.

CRIPPEN, COLOR OF DEATH, CAPTURED

The officers and many passengers knew she was a woman although none of the latter was aware of her identity.

Third Officer Mowat of the Montrose today claimed the credit of first arousing Captain Kendall's suspicions regarding the pair. He had read much of the Crippen case and connected the missing couple with the disguised girl. He gathered all the available newspapers and with Captain Kendall and the other officers went over the matter carefully.
They finally decided that the suspicious passengers were the missing couple.

Captain Kendall, when asked today what he would do with the reward offered for Crippen's apprehension, said he did not know that such a reward had been offered. He and the other officers refused further to discuss the case, believing they will be called later as witnesses.

Crippen's Appearance Altered
The fact that Dr. Crippen had carefully shaved his beard as well as
removed his mustache at first puzzled
Inspector Dew and made him a bit uncertain about his identity. Dew says Crippen's appearance was entirely altered.

Crippen, up to the arrival of Dew
on board, evidently had no suspicion that he was being watched. The man-nerism of the younger "Robinson," however, convinced nearly all that "he" was a woman. The dining room steward said he handled his food
like a girl.

Mrs. Nephew, a passenger, was walking on the deck when she saw the "boy" stumble and fall. "He"
uttered a little scream like a girl.
"No boy ever screamed like that,"
said Mrs. Nephew, and she told several of her fellow passengers she believed that Robinson's "son" was a girl.

Art Hosmer of Montreal, another passenger talked to young Robinson several times and heard "him"
laugh. The laugh convinced Hosmer that the "boy" was a girl.

Crippen at Home

When Miss Leneve was landed from the Montrose here she was dressed in a long loose gown furnished by Stewardess Heer of the Montrose. She was led, sobbing and stumbling over the long dress to a cab
where she was laid on the seat half fainting and hurried to the parliament buildings. Crippen had arrived some time before and had donned a pair of slippers and made himself
at home.

A Thrilling Drama

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—Not since
men first went down to the sea
in ships has there been enacted a more thrilling drama than the wireless pursuit of Dr. Crippen.

Three elements entered into this sensational criminal case and made it a success, after Scotland Yard had bungled it. The first was the work of the newspapers in carrying to every portion of the world
a complete description of the missing pair, together with their pictures.

The second was the astuteness of Captain Kendall, of the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose. He read the papers and from the descriptions recognized Crippen and Miss Leneve in "John Robinson and son,"
who boarded his ship at Antwerp.

The third was the great wireless,
perfected by Marconi, the Italian-Irish electrician. It was through enlisting this instrument as his chief aid that Captain Kendall first notified Scotland Yard of his suspicions and made it possible for Chief Inspector Walter Dew to board a fast steamer, the Laurentic, and reach Father Point ahead of his fleeing quarry.

Scotland Yard Fell Down

The British government's boasted secret service really played a minor role in the great criminal drama that reached its thrilling climax Sunday morning out on the broad St. Lawrence. For a brief moment only Scotland Yard, represented by Inspector Dew held the spotlight.

"Captain there's your man,"
melodramatically declared the English detective, in his pilot's disguise to Chief McCarthy, of the provincial police of Quebec, on the deck of the liner as he pointed to the pale and trembling "John Robinson."

Then four sharp blasts from the Montrose's siren, as a signal to the fifty newspaper men in the pilot
tug Eureka, waiting alongside, rang down the curtain on the third act
of the play.

The Detective's Errors

It might almost be said that Crippen and his companion were captured in spite of Scotland Yard.
The British secret service started out with a serious blunder and kept it up.

One June 22, Scotland Yard was informed by friends of Mrs. Belle Crippen, of their apprehensions. Dr.
Crippen had told Mrs. Crippen's friends that she died while on a hurried business trip to Los Angeles Cal. Detective Chief Inspector Walter Dew was assigned to the mysterious case. With other officers he questioned Crippen in his Hilldrop Crescent home and seemed satisfied with the story he told.
Later, through Mrs. Crippen's sister in America, who had been investigating the case, it was learned that no one by the name of Mrs. Crippen had died in Los Angeles.

Again Dew sought Crippen in his London office and obtained from him a ready promise that he would not leave London until the mystery of his wife's disappearance should be solved.

Hardly had the door closed upon the astute representative of Scotland Yard than the wily doctor and his typist fled, leaving London on July 9 or 10 for the continent.

"On July 13 their suspicious that Belle Elmore had met with foul play, having been fully aroused,
the detectives instituted a thorough search of the doctor's house
and finally located the dismembered and long eaten fragments of a human body which is as yet unidentified but which is believed to have been that of Mrs. Crippen—in the cellar. But their prey had escaped.
Even then Scotland Yard continued to blunder. They refused to give any information to the press
until forced by popular clamor and threats of an inquiry by parliament.
At last grudgingly they made official announcement of their suspicions that Dr. Crippen had murdered his wife but it was not until several days after the discovery of the body that the police circular containing a description and pictures of the fugitives was mailed to the various headquarters of the continental police departments.

Newspapers Deserve Credit

Meantime the newspapers unaided—in fact hampered by Scotland Yard—had printed fairly accurate details of the tragedy and such inadequate descriptions and pictures of the fleeing pair as could be procured.

Captain Kendall, of the Montrose was a newspaper reader. So when his vessel prepared to sail from Antwerp on July 20, he was fairly well
posted on the Crippen case.

His "Doctor Watson"

When, therefore, "John Robinson
and son," came on over the side,
without baggage and holding hands
in a manner unusual to men, his suspicions were aroused. Next he noted that when the "son" removed his coat, he had employed a safety pin to hold up his trousers. Closer scrutiny made him suspect that the "son" was really a woman. He engaged them in conversation. Between times he re-read his London papers. With Kendall, who is not a detective of the Scotland Yard type, to suspect was to act. The seafaring follower of Sherlock Holmes had wireless on board and he had operator Lew Jones, a twenty-year-old youth, as his "Dr. Watson."

No detective could have asked two better aides than Marconi and Jones.

Jones called the wireless stations
on the English coast and was soon
in communication with Scotland Yard. He described the couple so accurately with Captain Kendall's aid that Scotland Yard was convinced.

On Saturday July 23, Inspector
Dew rushed to Liverpool and boarded the fast White Star Liner Laurentic bound for Father Point, to intercept the suspected pair.

United Press "Scoop"

The Montrose's wireless set was a short distance one, capable of ending only 200 miles. For days
the ship was out of communication and the world speculated as to the chase. Then last Thursday came the hysterical message received exclusively by the United Press from young Jones "Crippen is on board."

The Montrose was again in touch with the land, this time the American coast and wireless hunt was on again.

Day of mystery, Dew on the Laurentic, reported Friday and from that time until Sunday morning
when the arrest was made, Jones
sat unsleeping in his wireless room and kept the world posted on the last leg of the chase.

Together Captain Kendall, the mariner detective and Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, talked over the case. Together they planned the details of the arrest, arranged that some one should engage Crippen in conversation and guard against suicide when Dew came over the side.

Captain Did Not Blunder

Captain Kendall, unlike Scotland Yard, did not blunder. The wireless had told him what to do and Captain Kendall did his part as well on the last day as on the first. When Dew—he simply had to disguise himself as a pilot—clambered over the side his quarry was waiting there for him. In silent fear Crippen gave himself up. Then Dew turned to Jones and called him a hero. Jones did not like it at all but the Montrose's passengers—
when they learned the truth agreed with Dew. They even went further and placed him in a category with Jack Binns, the "C Q D" man of the steamer Republic. Binns, they say was in no more danger in the wireless room of the Republic than any

THE "LABOR DAY" PARADE PLANNED

Winona Unions Invited, but Have Not Replied; "Home Made Week" Starts
that Day

The committee on arrangements for Labor day today announced that the following order had been selected for the parade, the chief feature of the day's celebration. The unions will march in the following order:

Beer bottlers, street and electric railway employes, rubber workers,
machinists, coopers, railway clerks,
tailors, painters, stonecutters, mould-ers, plow workers, horsehoers, printers, bartenders, hod carriers, cigar makers, freight handlers, stage employes, carpenters, blacksmiths,
meat cutters, brewery workers, plumbers, electrical workers, masons,
barbers, flour and feed mill employes.

The committee consists of John Rae, chairman; Louis Weigel, secretary; O. J. Olson, William Mitchell, A. B. Chandler, William Kerr, Theodore Strauss and Otto Kowalek.

The Winona labor unions which have been invited to be in the parade
have not replied but an answer is expected before the end of the present week.

The board of trade is at present
arranging for the "Home Made Week," which starts on Labor day and it is the expectation that big and imposing floats exhibiting articles manufactured in La Crosse will be one of the main features of the monstrous parade. The committee will hold a meeting Wednesday night
where further particulars and details of the day's events will be arranged.

one of its 1,000 passengers. To stick to the room was self preservation. Binns, though a hero, had to stick to save his own life, they said.

Crippen Suspected Jones

But with Jones it was different.
Crippen, accused of a terrible murder,
was fleeing from justice. He carried a revolver. He might kill again to save his own life. He suspected Jones and asked him why so many wireless messages were being sent. Had he known the truth
he could easily have killed the boy up in the little wireless room or he might have shoved him overboard.
But Jones stuck to his key, and kept his mouth shut.

Says Newspapers Did It

Captain Kendall, of the Montrose consented to discuss certain features of the case later in the day. He credits a bundle of European newspapers with the apprehension of Crippen. To them, Kendall said, he owed his first suspicions of "John Robinson and son,"
when they boarded the Montrose at Antwerp.

"The English papers were full of the Crippen case when we were on the other side," said Kendall, "and I became very much interested in
it. I secured all the papers available before we left Antwerp and I used to read them at every opportunity."

Here the captain produced a bundle of papers that bore evidence of his detective work. On one of the newspaper pictures of Crippen, the dentist's black moustache had been blocked out with white crayon.

Chalked out Moustache

"That was what first convinced
me that the man was Crippen," said Kendall, "my passenger was clean shaven and I did that to see how Crippen would look without his moustache. I also chalked out the eyeglasses in the picture as the man when on deck wore no glasses. The altered picture was undoubtedly that of my passenger. I then covered all except the face of Miss Leneve in the paper with white paper to eliminate the woman's clothes and a comparison of the faces convinced me that Miss Leneve and 'young Robinson' were the same.

Crippen Did Not Suspect

"I then proceeded to get acquainted with Robinson, or Crippen. Several times I conversed with him about the ship, about America and about his son, whom he said he was taking to California for his health.
He was very careful in talking to me
but I was very careful not to say anything that would arouse his suspicions, and I succeeded in making him believe that my interest was only a friendly one. I think that right up to the time Inspector Dew climbed over the side at Father Point he had no idea that his identity was known."

Won't Return Immediately

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Detective
Mitchell will sail for Canada Thursday with the necessary documents
for the extradition of Dr. H. H.
Crippen and Miss Leneve. This eliminated the possibility of their immediate removal to England.

Crippen Indifferent

The stolid indifference that has characterized Crippen's every act
since he recovered from the first shock of his arrest, was in evidence when he was taken from his cell for the arraignment. Heavily manacled
he was led through a long lane of morbidly curious people. Not once did he glance to the right or left, or exhibit the slightest interest in what was happening. No mention of the murder charge was made at this afternoon's arraignment which was solely for the purpose of arranging for the return of the accused to London. The fifteen days' continuance order by Magistrate Angers is the result of a Canadian law which requires a delay of that period to allow the prisoner time to change his mind, if after careful thought, he wishes to oppose his return and defend himself.

Loses His Color

The first break in Crippen's sullen composure came when he was confronted with Mrs. Fred Ginnet of Roselle, N. J., who was a member of the Actress' Guild in London with Belle Elmore. When she dramatically identified Crippen he lost color, became pale and shuffled nervously in his place. His eyes up to that time gazing indifferently about, became shifty.

"Are you Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen?" demanded Magistrate Angers, when the officers took their places.

"I am," answered the prisoner, in a voice scarcely audible to the spectators.

"Do you know this man?" asked Angers, turning to Inspector Dew.
"Yes," answered the detective.

"What is his nationality?"
"American. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan."

After the formalities had been completed, Crippen, told the court that he was willing to return to England with Inspector Dew or any other properly qualified officer.

Girl Collapses

Clare Leneve, Crippen's companion, is in a state of almost total collapse. Her condition prevented the police taking her into court
when Crippen was arraigned, and she was removed from her little room in the basement of the parliament buildings to the home of the chief of police. After Crippen had been disposed of Judge Angers visited her there and formally remanded her for fifteen days.

Says Crippen Will Confess

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Declaring
his willingness to go to England
if his appearance at the trial of Dr.
H. H. Crippen is thought necessary,
Frederick Messenger, the gray haired step-father of Crippen's murdered wife, expressed great satisfaction today at the arrest of Crippen. Messenger runs a small truck and dairy farm on the outskirts of Brooklyn.

"However, I am told the English law is swift and sure. If guilty he should suffer the penalty. They say there is some doubt about proving that the body in the cellar is that of my step-daughter. Give Crippen a chance and he will tell
all. I know him."

JUSTICE CRONON HAS BUSY MORNING

Number of Prisoners Are Arraigned Today to Answer to Minor
Charges

"This has been the busiest Monday morning I have had all summer,"
said Police Justice Edward Cronon
this morning, after a number of prisoners had been arraigned. The first case called was that against G. H.
Higgins, charged with using abusive language toward Blanche Hall, resulting over a quarrel in which Mrs.
Hall was ordered out of her home,
corner of Eighth and State streets.
It was alleged in the complaint that the defendant used bad language in ordering her from the premises and a number of witnesses were called to testify. The taking of testimony was completed at noon and the case will be argued by the attorneys late this afternoon.

Broke Fire Alarm Box

Max and Charlie Raita were arraigned on the charge of breaking the glass in the fire alarm box, corner of Third and Pearl streets, Saturday night. Both young men claimed they had been drinking and did not know what they were doing, but they entered a plea of guilty and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed upon each of the defendants.

Refused to "Move On"

"Des ban a free country," said
Louis Nydahl, 1631 Market street, to Officer McDonough Saturday night
when told to move on and not obstruct the crossing at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. According to the police Nydahl stood in the middle of the crossing and refused to allow pedestrians to pass, when the officer told him, to stand to one side, Nydahl changed his mind this morning when arraigned before Police Justice Cronon, and pleaded guilty.
He was fined $7.50.

Says He Was Not Drunk

William Edwards was charged with being drunk and disorderly to which he pleaded not guilty. His case was set for 4 o'clock this afternoon.

MRS. HARRISON

LAID TO REST

A letter to The Tribune from Susan
M. Graves, secretary of the Minneapolis Humane society says that Mrs.
Leona Harrison, daughter of Prof.
Wallace, who died in Minneapolis,
and whose body for a time was threatened with being turned over to the university for want of proper custody by relatives, states that Mrs.
Harrison was buried by the Stevens
Avenue Home in Lakewood cemetery, Minneapolis. Her two children are being cared for at this home, also.

The letter concludes: "But if her La Crosse friends would like to contribute something to defray this expense, or to take care of the two children, this home would be very glad to receive it. The children are receiving good care."

MADAME CONKLIN TO

LEAVE LA CROSSE

Madame Conklin, who for several years has operated the millinery department at the Bartl Dry Goods company, has disposed of her entire stock to Miss Bergetha Thompson of this city who will manage the department in the future. Miss Thompson is a La Crosse young lady who has been in the business for a number of years. The same attendants as have been in the department in the past years will be retained
under the new management.

Madame Conklin will leave the city in about a week to enter the retail business in some other city.
No definite plans have been made as yet.

PEARL PEPECT

ACORN IN FORM

Fred Smith, printer employed at The Tribune yesterday found one of the real curiosities of the present craze for pearl hunting. Mr. Smith was "clamming" just south of Pettibone island, and took from a mussel a pearl which is the shape of a perfect acorn. It has the stem, cap and acorn complete, even to the little point at the end. It is white and lustrous. Mr. Smith has had no estimate upon its value, but its unusual form may make it very valuable.

ANOTHER PITCHER

FOR LA CROSSE

Pitcher Merle Spade, who tried out here at the beginning of the season, arrived in the city yesterday and will be taken on the road trip
which the Outcasts start tomorrow at Duluth. Spade had a wonderful record with the Beardstown club in the I-M league last year, but has not played professional ball this season. He has however participated in games now and then keeping his arm in good shape.

IVER JOHNSON HURT;

TIE FALLS ON LEG

Iver Johnson, a section hand employed at Grand Crossing in the railroad yards of the Burlington road, injured one of his legs Saturday morning when a heavy tie fell on the member, bruising and cutting it.
The injury is not serious, however,
and will confine him to his home
but a short time.

An Early Wall Paper.

On preparing a room in Bradbourne Hall, Derbyshire, in 1882, I found, partly covered by an old oak cupboard, considerable remains of quite early eighteenth century wall paper, of pale green tint, with a flowing pattern in darker color on it. This paper was made in squares of about twenty inches, and I was able to rescue two or more complete pieces. It had been printed on rather thick paper from woodcut blocks, and each square was nailed up with coarse iron tacks about one and a half inches apart, each tack being run through squares or washers of brown leather, so that both tack heads and washers showed all around each square of paper. It is possible that this wall paper was of late seventeenth century date. Bradbourne Hall, in the lower peak, is a picturesque house, almost unaltered, of the time of James I., having been then fashioned from the canonical house of the Augustines of Dunstable. It was just the place—"far from the madding crowd"—where curious details of domestic decorations would survive.—London Notes and Queries.

The Cynic's Point of View.

Of course we all like to know that our enemies are vulnerable, but it is only the cynical elect who can appreciate with fine epicurean fastidiousness the glorious revelation that their friends are human after all. And it is not only the weakness of those near and dear to us, but their misfortunes and annoyances, which give a thrill of illicit joy to those honest contentions who can look in their own hearts. I once heard a young mother say that there was only one thing which gave her greater pleasure than hearing that the children of her friends were sick, and that was to hear that they were bad. No one but a brom-idiot (to borrow the excellent root with which Mr. Gelett Burgess has enriched us) would think of condemning this young woman for being malicious or unkind. Misery is not the only human quality that loves company. Some of her distant relatives—Anxiety, Discouragement, Annoyance—are equally sociable.—Atlantic.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Sharp concessions were in order at the opening of the stock market today, but at the end of 15 minutes the market steadied, a majority of the issues rallying small fractions.

11 a. m.—After the first few minutes the market developed a firmer tone, nearly all the initial losses being recovered and before the end of the first hour many stocks showed fairly good gains.

Government bonds unchanged; others lower.

Noon—After the first hour the market became decidedly strong with advance of a point or more in all the active industrials and railroads.

2 p. m.—Although trading was unsettled the tone continued very strong, some further advances being made over midday figures.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—There was a good tone to the wheat trade at the opening today. The trade generally felt that it was a good thing to have the July contracts out of the way. September contracts were at 102 1-2 and up to 103 5-8 for the morning. Dec. wheat sold 104 to 105 on first trades weakened to 104 5-8, had strong rally to 105 1-4 to 108 1-8 to 108 1-4 and strong turn to 109. This left the market about 3-4 cent higher for the close Saturday for the late months.

Northwest messages are claiming much extremely short wheat which cannot be harvested profitably.

Corn traders began the day with a nervous selling flurry which put the September price back half a cent or more, to 3 3-8 cents, from which there was strong recovery to 64 1-2 cents and the market held 4 1-4 cents. December corn sold off to 1 1-2 cents and rallied to 62 cents. May opened 63 1-4 cents to 62 3-4 cents and recovered to 63 3-8 cents.

Oats values worked higher in sympathy with wheat. Sentiment seems to favor higher prices in the oats pit lately. High prices for wheat and corn and scarcity of other feed stuffs is the bull theory. September oats at 37 1-2 cents to 37 3-8 cents sold to 37 1-4, back to 37 5-8 to 37 3-8 to 1-2; December opened at 38 3-4 to 38 1-2 sold to 38 3-8 to 1-2, back to 38 5-8.

Provisions had a weak undertone. The break in prices for hogs at the yards prompted more or less liquidation of long product.

Close—September wheat closed 1/4 lower, December 1/4 and May 1/4 lower. September and December corn 1/4 higher. May same as opening price. September oats 1/4 and December 1/4 lower. May same as opening price. Provisions steady.

NEW EMBROIDERY TRIMMED HATS

Fresh and dainty as can be, are the summer hats of white straw trimmed with embroidery. The hat shape is usually very simple and the trimming consists of a crushed band and a big soft bow or choux of very fine embroidery. Anglaise of eyelet work, or of the delicate "blind" embroidery on sheer mull. Of course the embroidery trimming is so arranged that it may be taken off frequently and laundered, for soil traces or the holes resulting from hatpin thrusts utterly spoil the beauty of such a hat.

EFFORT TO SECURE RESCUE OF FISH

Congressman Esch to Petition U. S. Fishery to Do Something Around La Crosse

Congressman John J. Esch will petition the superintendent of the U. S. Fishery service, at Manchester, Iowa, to detail the steamer Curlew and crew to rescue work in the vicinity of La Crosse. Reports which have been brought into La Crosse and to Mr. Esch show that thousands of fish are dying in this vicinity as a result of the low water and up to date the Curlew has been inactive.

"Deputy State Game Warden Arthur Holmes tells me that there are hundreds of sloughs that are completely land locked near La Crosse," said the congressman today, "and that the fish are dying because of the warm water."

"I have information to the effect that an effort is being made to put the Curlew to work on the Illinois river but I will do everything possible to have it detailed to the district surrounding La Crosse."

GEORGE SMITH IS BADLY INJURED

George Smith, yardmaster at the plant of the John Dugan Brewing company, met with a serious accident this morning about 7 o'clock, which will cause him to be laid up for a week or more. He was in his office and was about to open the window, when his chair slipped and he fell against a wire paper hook on the desk, the hook passing through his right hand. He was taken to the office of a doctor, where the injury was attended to.

OLD-TIME STAGE COACH HELD UP

OURAY, Col., July 30.—Eighteen tourists, most of them from Philadelphia, were treated to a holdup early today. George H. Barnhart of New York, manager of the Wanakah Mining company of Ouray, had in- vited a party of seven men and two women to accompany him on a pic- nic trip into the mountains. He hired an old fashioned four horse stage and the party started for the moun- tains early yesterday. Returning early today two masked men stepped out and leveling revolvers at the driver, ordered him to hold up his hands. One bandit "covered" the driver while the other went back to take the party's valuables.

He was met, however, by Samuel McCurdy of Philadelphia, a director of the Textile National bank, who opened fire on the bandit with an automatic revolver. The bandit fled into the winds where he opened fire on McCurdy. The other robber quickly followed his example and both ex- changed shots with McCurdy and other passengers before the driver could get his horses started. None of the passengers lost anything but sev- eral of the women were ill in bed today as a result of their experience.

RED WING WINS FROM LA CROSSE

Takes Last Game of Series by Pounding Jack Hooker in One Round; Score Is Five to Four

SLUGGING WINS THE GAME

Six Hits, Two of which Are Triples, in the Seventh Inning Score Four Runs

The Indian hoodoo from Red Wing which has been in pursuit of the La Crosse club in every series with the manufacturers this season again bumped the team yesterday and when the dust of battle had vanished the score board read, Red Wing 5, La Crosse 4. The greater share of the damage was done in the seventh round when the Indians found Jack Hooker for two triples and four singles, two of them scratchy, which netted four runs winning the runfest. After this round Watson tried to stem the scoring which he did in a neat manner, allowing but one hit in the two innings.

La Crosse made a game and desper- ate but vain effort to win out in the same round getting three runs which brought them within one score of a tie. Weidell was ordered to the firing line to relieve Fautsch, who seemed to be going bad and he held things safe till the finish of the game.

Doll was hit in the face in the first inning by a grounder off Safford's bat which took a bad bound. After a water cure Doll re- sumed the game.

La Crosse scored first. Ward tripled in round one, and Safford's slam to Doll which took a bad bound and hit him in the face scored Ward. It was a lucky run.

The Indians counted in the fourth when Black singled to left, went to second on a passed ball, was sacri- ficed to third by Demmer and home on Gorman's hunt to first.

In the seventh came the afore- mentioned runfest off Hooker. The little fellow's shoots were found by the visitors for enough hits to score four runs. Doll started with a triple to right and scored when Holding poked one into Kernan north of sec- ond base which took a bad jump. Fautsch hit to center for three bases, scoring Holding. Mike poked out a high fly to Klein, who caught Held- ing at the plate by one of the pret- tiest throws seen here this year. Kel- ley slammed a fast one to Hooker, the ball being of the burning kind and it went for a single. Black con- nected for a safe drive to short and stole second. When Demmer labeled a ball for a single in right both run- ners scored. Demmer died trying to steal second.

In their share of the inning La Crosse pushed over three runs on two hits, and three bases on balls off Fautsch. Klein, Ward and Zalusky, who batted for Hooker, made the runs. The official box score:

OUTCASTS WIN FIELD EVENTS

Capture Three Out of the Four Pulled Off, and Doll Won the Other

Although the Red Wing team won the ball game yesterday the special field events to celebrate "Union Baseball and Labor Day" were won mostly by the home club. Four events were pulled off and La Crosse won three of them while Shorty Doll lately of the Outcasts took the other.

"Union Day" was a success and the stands were filled. Although not a thousand fans were present the local officers of the association expressed themselves as pleased.

The first event, fungo hitting was won by Bots Whittaker with Black and Fautsch of the Red Wing club second and third respec- tively.

Throwing a mark for catch- ers, was won by Wais. A board was placed on end at second base. The mark was a towel tied around it. Throwing from home plate, Wais, Holding, Zalusky and Speed all missed on the first two trials.

On the third Wais planted the ball right on the towel. The other three men missed.

Fungo hitting at the Bull Dur- ham cut out sign. Won by Doll. It took a long time to hit the sign and in their efforts Zalusky and Safford hit the pellet clear over the bull's back. When no one was looking, Shorty took a rap at the ball and hit the bull, winning the event.

Throwing for distance: Snyder, first; Whittaker, second; Klein, third.

Umpire Arundel then announced that owing to the lateness of the hour the fifty yard dash and the circling the bases event, would not be pulled off and the game would be started.

Plans are on foot in the other cities of the league for special days and it is probable that "Union Day" will be tried.

OUTCASTS LOSE THE SATURDAY BATTLE

In a slow and tiresome contest filled full of wrangling and devoid of interesting baseball, with the ex- ception of one sensational catch, a one-hand spear by Kuehn in left, La Crosse was defeated Saturday af- ternoon by Red Wing in the second game of the series by the score of 4 to 2. Wolford officiated for the Indians and was tight and lucky in the pinches. Doll also played second with the Manufacturers and his triple in the sixth broke the tie. The of- ficial box score:

JIM SAYS HE WAS DOPED

Claims that Something was Put in a Fishing Break- fast; Suspects Sup- posed Friends

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1.— "I am positively through with the fight game. I shall never step in- to the ring again. This is abso- lutely final."

According to the Los Angeles Record today this positive decla- ration by James J. Jeffries was made to Willie Jacobs, a leading sport writer of the coast and warm friend of Jeff. It is the big fellow's final decision in a question that has worried him since he announced to the United Press, the day follow- ing his defeat that he was consid- ering another match with Jack Johnson and would study the mat- ter while recuperating at Catalina.

Jeff has just returned from Ca- talina.

"No amount of money can ever attempt me," Jeff continued, "no promoter ever induce me to take another fling at the ring game. Rickard and I have taken the mat- ter over long and earnestly and this is my decision. I have all the

DETROIT BEATS THE WHITE SOX

Make it Six Straight by Winning 6 to 5; Cobb Wins with a Home Run

CHICAGO WINS TWO GAMES

Cole Shuts Out the Cardin- als in the First Game without a Hit; Scores 9-4 to 3-0

AMERICAN LEAGUE
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Detroit made it four straight from the Sox by winning yesterday, 6 to 5. With the Tigers five ahead in the fourth, Ten- nehill smashed a homer with the bases full, after one run had been counted, and evened up the score. Walsh was then rushed in to stop Detroit, but Cobb polled a home run, winning the game in the sixth and Scott, who finished, held the Tigers hitless the rest of the way. Score: R H E
Chicago 000500000—9 4 3
Detroit 300210000—6 6 1
Batteries: Walsh, Scott, Olmstead, Young and Payne; Donovan and Schmidt.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Chicago, 9-4; St. Louis, 3-0
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 1.—With hot weather and a big crowd the Cubs took two falls out of the Cardinals, 9 to 3 and 4 to 0. In the first round of the opening round the Cubs dis- persed John Lush with four hits and three runs. In the third the Cardinals rallied against Brown and tied the count on four swats and a couple of errors. Brown smashed a tie in the sixth with a triple behind Kling's pass and scored later on a single by Evers. Higgins, who relieved Lush, blew up in the ninth where four hits and a pass netted four runs.

Cole shut out the locals without a run or hit in the second game, which was called at the end of seven innings. Cole walked four men, but a couple of fast double plays kept him out of trouble. Score:
First game— R H E
St. Louis 003000000—3 6 1
Chicago 0101101—4 7 1
Batteries: Lush, Higgins and Bresnahan; Brown and Kling.

money I need to keep myself and wife in comfort and I don't want a cent more."

Jeffries today also gave his pos- tive support, says Jacobs, to the story that he was dragged before the fight, a story that was sprung by his brother Jack immediately af- ter the fight and backed up by the other men who helped to prepare the white man for the big battle. Jeffries had intimated that he was not "right" but today he made this statement:

"I am positive that I was the victim of trickery. Something was done to me. It would have been impossible for me to break down in the condition I was in so sud- denly unless some one got to me in an underhanded way. Eight days before the fight I went on a fishing trip. We had breakfast while out and when I returned that afternoon I went to bed and to sleep.

"From that day I was never my- self. I wanted to sleep all the time. At first I thought I had been working too much and that a cou- ple days' rest would fix me up. But the laziness never left me. I was also attacked with dysentery. To show how strong it was han- ded to me, I did not recover from either the dope or the dysentery un- til I had been at Catalina two weeks.

"I have my suspicions as to the guilty parties and what hurts the most is that I suspect men who pre- tended to be most friendly toward me."

Some Remarkable Beliefs.
There are people in this day and age who believe that horsehairs will turn to living snakes, that toads will live for thousands of years in the cav- erty of a rock without food or water, that the barnacle goose was developed from the shellfish of that name and that the bird called sora is a species of winged frog.
